JOB DESCRIPTION

TEACHER OF RELIGIOUS STUDIES AND PHILOSOPHY

JOB TITLE: Teacher of Religious Studies and Philosophy – full-time position required from September 2017

REPORTING LINE: Head of Religious Studies and Philosophy

HAMPTON SCHOOL

Hampton is one of the country's foremost independent schools for boys and for nearly 460 years, has been helping boys to fulfil their potential and realise their aspirations. We are delighted that our examination results and university entrance record consistently rank among the very best achieved anywhere.

Hampton is a lively, friendly and caring community, where innovative teaching is underpinned by strong shared values and complemented by truly outstanding pastoral care. We aspire to enable our boys not only to make sense of the world but also to want to go out and improve it.

The remarkable range of co-curricular activities on offer here provides each boy with the opportunity to shine and the means to explore new interests. Nearly all leavers go on to undergraduate courses at elite UK universities or medical schools. Around 30 Hampton boys gain places at Oxford and Cambridge each year; an increasing number go on to study at American Ivy League universities, often on academic and sporting scholarships.

Situated on a greenfield site in a leafy suburb of South West London we are fortunate to have over 27 acres of playing fields within our spacious grounds and a continual investment programme ensures that our pupils enjoy the use of excellent facilities. These include a state-of-the-art all-weather 3G sports ground, a large sports hall and The Hammond Theatre, our exceptional library and specialist facilities for Art, Science, Technology, ICT and Languages and we are looking forward to the opening of our new Sixth Form Centre in 2018. The Millennium Boat House, shared with neighbouring Lady Eleanor Holles, enjoys a prime location on the nearby River Thames and provides the focal point for our internationally renowned and highly successful Boat Club.

If you share our vision for an inspiring, modern and exciting education, we invite you to apply to teach at Hampton. A warm, sincere and personal welcome awaits you from prospective colleagues and boys alike.

GENERAL

An enthusiastic, well-qualified Teacher of Religious Studies is required from September 2017.

Contribution to the wider life of the School is also expected from staff at Hampton.

Teachers may be responsible to other colleagues in their work, (e.g. a Form Tutor will have the Head of Year as their immediate line manager for pastoral work).

THE DEPARTMENT

Hampton School has a healthy tradition of Religious Studies at all levels. The GCSE and AS/Pre-U Level courses are popular and extremely well-supported, regularly drawing some of the School's brightest pupils, and prompting students each year to continue studying the subject at university. We regularly send students to read Philosophy and Theology courses at Oxford, Cambridge and other leading universities. Our aim is to provide genuinely imaginative, varied and challenging courses at all levels in the School.

Although full guidelines and support material are provided for all the courses we teach, the ethos of the Department is to encourage individual teachers to shape the basic themes and material according to their own enthusiasms and specialisms, and the developing interests of the class groups. We seek to create a classroom ethos of collaboration and discussion, in response to a variety of high-quality stimuli. The last few years have seen a significant growth in the range of departmental resources, and we are excited by the enrichment that this continuing process provides.

There are currently five full-time and one part-time members of the Department. The post advertised is a new position due to the ongoing growth and popularity of the subject. The successful candidate person will be required for 30 periods in the week, and will teach groups throughout the School's age and ability range, from the First Year to the Upper Sixth.

Lower School Religious Studies

The First Year [Year 7], which has two RS lessons per week, begins with a course entitled 'Introduction to Religion' for half a term, approaching some fundamentals of the main religious traditions from a variety of perspectives. For the rest of the Autumn Term and the Spring Term, a course entitled 'Old Testament Themes and the Life of Judaism' is followed; in the Summer Term, we provide an 'Introduction to Sikhism'. These courses are complemented by visits to the West London Synagogue and a local Gurdwara.

The first one and a half terms of the Second Year [Year 8] course (also two lessons per week) is taken up with exploration of 'A Study of Christianity through the Life and Teachings of Jesus'. In the second half of the year, we provide an 'Introduction to Hinduism', which includes a popular and valuable visit to the Neasden Mandir along with the London Russian Orthodox Church Abroad and Saint Anne's Church, Kew.

A significant number of boys join the School at 13 years old. The Third Year [Year 9] course (one lesson per week) consists initially of an introduction to some basic questions of Western Philosophy of Religion in the first half of the Autumn Term and then moves to a study of Buddhism. The Spring Term begins with a study of Islam and then moves to an exploration of the themes of Forgiveness and Non-Violence. Further study of the Philosophy of Religion fills the Summer Term.

GCSE Religious Studies

There are flourishing GCSE option groups in the Fourth and Fifth Years [Years 10-11] which take courses on Religion and Life Based on a study of Christianity and on Buddhism [Edexcel specification]. We have an ongoing programme of visits and visitors to support these popular courses. The Department regularly achieves a record of more than 90% of grades awarded at A and A*.

In addition, in the Fourth Year [Year 10], all boys take a course called "Life Issues" (one lesson per week), which provides an introduction to contemporary moral issues from a variety of perspectives, secular and religious.

Sixth Form Religious Studies

The subject has become increasingly popular at A Level in recent years. From September 2015 we have run a Pre-U Course in Philosophy and Theology with papers in the Philosophy of Religion and Religious Ethics. We will also be running AS Level courses in Philosophy of Religion, Religious Ethics and Philosophy of Religion (following the Eduqas specification). The Department has achieved 100% of grades awarded at A* to B for the last twelve years.

We also run a Philosophy and Theology Extension Programme for those intending to read either Philosophy or Theology at university. We will welcome contributions to this from the person appointed.

Co-curricular Activities

The School is non-denominational, but has historical roots at a nearby Anglican Church, and this has shaped the basic ethos of the community and its assemblies. There are sizeable minorities of boys from other faith traditions, however, and our Religious Studies courses are increasingly benefiting from contact with a range of different faith groups. There are two Christian groups: the Junior Christian Union for Lower School boys, and the Senior Christian Union. The School also makes provision for Jewish, Indian (comprising the Hindu and Sikh religions) and Muslim societies to meet. In recent years, the Indian society has helped to run a Diwali evening in the Hammond Theatre in November, which has proved to be great fun and very popular. There are Meditation Classes that attract boys from a variety of faith traditions and from none. We also run Junior and Senior Philosophy Circles, which provide the opportunity for lunchtime discussions on philosophical, ethical and moral themes between boys from throughout the School, and the successful applicant would be expected to have regular input to this. The Department is also active in promotion of environmental and world development issues and many students have been involved in the School's Amnesty International group.
